Music, Theatre, and Dance

The Institution

For 175 years, Taylor University has been one of the most Christ-centered, student-focused universities in the world. A new presidential administration has catalyzed a season of significant energy and excitement on campus. The University recently completed a yearlong strategic-planning process that drew thousands of supporters deeper into their relationship with the University, a process we believe will move the University from excellence to eminence in a host of areas. This is an exciting time to be at Taylor.

Founded in 1846, Taylor is recognized as an institution that prizes student learning, celebrates intentional community, leads in the work of faith-learning integration and stands as the oldest non-denominational school within the Council for Christian Colleges and Universities (CCCU). Each member of Taylor's dedicated faculty and staff is devoted to the intellectual and spiritual formation of students—in classrooms and residence halls, on the athletic turf and performance stage, and around the world.

The culture of Taylor is one of high collegiality, deep care for one another, and shared Christian commitment. Again this year, Taylor was named the #1 university in the Midwest by U.S. News and World Report, and for 25 consecutive years, Taylor has been ranked as one of the top three universities in the Midwest and one of America's Top Colleges according to Forbes.

In addition, Taylor has been named a "Christian College of Distinction" with four notable strengths: engaged students, great teaching, vibrant communities, and successful outcomes.

In addition to their deep commitment to Christ, Taylor students distinguish themselves by academic passion, spiritual commitment, and active engagement on campus. Two satellites built by Taylor students were launched into space in early 2021. And in the fields of finance and investment management, a team of Taylor students won QGAME – a national competition among business students who manage portions of their institution's endowment. Recently, ten Taylor student athletes were named CoSIDA Academic All-Americans, ranking Taylor first in the NAIA and fifth in the nation across all collegiate levels.

Taylor students are part of a larger ecosystem of broad institutional support and loyalty. In fact, virtually all (97%) current parents would support their child's choice to attend Taylor again, which is higher than many peer institutions. The percentage of Taylor alumni contributing financially to the University every year is double the national average, and Taylor is ranked number one in the Midwest in freshman retention by U.S. News and World Report.

Mission Statement and Foundational Documents

Taylor's mission is to develop servant-leaders marked with a passion to minister Christ's redemptive love, grace and truth to a world in need.

We accomplish this mission by striving to be:

- Whole Person Focused: We involve students in learning experiences imbued with a vital Christian interpretation of truth and life which foster their intellectual, emotional, physical, vocational, social, and spiritual development.
- Biblically Anchored and Liberal Arts Grounded: We offer a liberal arts, professional, and life-long education based upon the conviction all truth has its source in God and His Word.
- Christ-Centered: Our Christian faith should permeate all learning—leading to a consistent life of worship, servant leadership, stewardship, and world outreach.
- Faith and Learning Integrated: We strive to create specific experiences where the integrative focus of a Christian liberal arts education is clarified, personalized, and applied.
- World Engaging: We contribute to the advancement of human knowledge and understanding and serve the evangelical Christian church and the larger, public community for the glory of God.
- Servant Leader Motivated: We foster a biblical model of relationships acknowledging both unity and diversity of the followers of Christ within a covenant community, which can be evidenced in a continuing lifestyle of service to and concern for others.

Foundational Documents

A series of Foundational Documents make clear the University's interpretation and biblical understanding of a host of issues that relate to studying, living, and working together in a Christ-centered community. Senior leader candidates should be able to wholeheartedly affirm and endorse each of these documents annually. They are the following and can be located online here.

- 1) Statement of Faith
- 2) Life Together Covenant
- 3) Sanctity of Life Statement
- 4) Multicultural Philosophy Statement
- 5) Statement on Human Sexuality

Academic Excellence, Dedicated to Truth

With more than 125 degree programs for study at the undergraduate level, Taylor also instills broad understanding and knowledge through its respected Foundational Core curriculum. Throughout the educational journey, the University encourages students to ask hard questions, to apply themselves to the tasks at hand, and to embrace their callings. In addition to the 130-plus fulltime instructional faculty, Taylor's unique academic environment includes student development professionals with advanced degrees and administrators who also hold faculty rank. In the aggregate, this contributes to a much richer context for intellectual formation and intentional academic community on the Taylor campus. It also produces a learning environment marked by distinctive excellence, as exemplified by the following accolades:

- Taylor ranks second among Indiana schools (including Notre Dame and Purdue) and second nationally among CCCU schools (including Westmont, Wheaton, and Calvin) for average incoming students' SAT score.
- Taylor is ranked third nationally among baccalaureate schools for the number of students who participate in study and service abroad opportunities.
- Virtually all members of the Class of 2021 (99%) secured a full-time or part-time job, post-graduate internship, or graduate school placement within six months following graduation.

Taylor University is seeking applications and nominations of distinctive candidates for a tenure track faculty position in the Department of Music, Theatre and Dance, as Assistant Professor of Music (Voice) beginning in August 2024. Rank and salary are dependent upon qualifications and experience.

Qualifications

Candidates should have an earned doctorate in Music. Exceptional candidates with an appropriate master's degree and extensive related experience will be considered, though tenure track would need to be evaluated. The primary responsibilities will be teaching voice lessons and teaching courses in the successful candidate's area of specialty, including Musical Theatre History and Styles, Vocal Pedagogy, Vocal Literature, and Stage Direction/ Music Direction for Lyric Theatre. The faculty member will teach students in classically oriented degrees such as Vocal Performance as well as students pursuing a BFA in Musical Theatre, and students in the Worship Arts program. Depending on the candidate's background, the candidate may teach students outside of the MTD Department in courses that are part of the university's Aesthetic Literacy core. Other courses taught will depend on interest and background.

Demonstrated excellence in college teaching and professional performing are desired. Strong organizational skills, expert musicianship, leadership and collegiality are essential for this position. The successful candidate will demonstrate a commitment to the life of the mind through participation in professional organizations and scholarship and will be committed to the integration of faith and learning. Professional service, active membership in professional societies, student advising, and faculty governance responsibilities are expected. Preference would be given to candidates with 3 - 5 years of leadership experience in higher education.

Candidates will be expected to affirm the Taylor University Life Together Covenant, Statement of Faith, and other Foundational Documents.

About the Department

The Department of Music, Theatre, and Dance is a vibrant community that provides professional training and service to the university in the Christian Liberal Arts tradition. The department has more than 100 majors and minors with 8 full time faculty and nearly twenty specialty adjunct instructors. There are 10 music ensembles and a highly active theatre and musical theatre program. The music unit is accredited by NASM. The department offers Bachelor of Music Degrees in Performance, Music Education, and Composition; Bachelor of Science Degrees with concentrations in Music Marketing, Worship Arts, and Management; Bachelor of Arts Degrees in Music and Theatre; and a Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree in Musical Theatre.
